Dear Susan Carey,

I am writing to apply for your position in computer store as advertised in Crimson Careers. This exciting opportunity appears to be a wonderful fit with my professional experience, personal interest and career goals.

I am returning to Calcutta to complete my course at Xavier Extension School, where I am majoring in Mathematics and Computer Application. Having spent the year working and travelling, I am eager to incorporate myself once again into the local computer store, to which I can bring experience in a number of sectors of the industry.

Through eight years in the IT field, I have acquired a deep love of and appreciation for innovation and technology. I have been known to wax rhapsodic over specials; nothing made me happier than discussing a new code with a friend. This enthusiasm allowed me to introduce a list of reserve selections to Shay's IT Hub and Cafe. The result was an appreciable increase in sales for the store and repeat attendance by customers. My position at 99Data's award-winning CD-venture allowed me to expand upon my knowledge of computers, locally inspired projects, and the highest standards of service. Our weekly challenges fueled my desire to further myself in this field, and I am in the process of acquiring certification through both the Calcutta University and the IT Professionals Education Trust.

Most recently, I have returned from North Bengal where I was lucky enough to work on a local IT business in Siliguri. I adored working with the young, dynamic, Mrs. Mathew who ran the business, the largest of its kind in the region. A position at your computer store company would allow me to draw upon this experience and to facilitate the success of such producers. Additionally, it would enable me to replicate the most enjoyable components of my experience overall: working with my colleagues in the local IT industry, as well as with distinctive, iconoclastic professionals.

I am readily available via email or phone in order to arrange an interview, and have attached my resume below per your request. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions. I appreciate your consideration and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

John Gessler
